Saanich Plans Sewage Survey Before Election

Engineers Will Compare Costs Between Tunnel and Disposal Plant

Saanich Council last night voted to engage a Portland, Oregon, engineering firm to conduct a $2,500 preliminary sewage survey to be completed in time for a new sewage referendum in the December municipal election.

The firm, Stevens & Koons, sewage disposal plant engineers, will be asked specifically to compare costs between installation of a sewage disposal plant and construction of a sewage tunnel to Saxe Point.

CAN TAKE CHOICE

"Once we have this exact information we can say in December, 'here it is—take your choice,'" Reeve E. C. Warren said.

The move is the latest in a long series of Saanich attempts to provide a sewage system in the municipality. The Provincial Health Department scotched their plan last year when they told the council they did not have power to force the municipality to install a sewage system.

Last night's decision came after argument on a drainage and sewer committee meeting held August 22, when a referendum was suggested asking public endorsement of the $2,500 survey.

The survey and resulting sewage system will cover all of Ward Seven, all of Ward Two, part of Ward one and a small part of Ward Four.

LESS EXPENSIVE

Councillor Leslie H. Pasmore reported that preliminary discussion with the engineering firm confirmed council's belief that a tunnel scheme would be less expensive than the sewage disposal plant over a period of 20 years.

Ratepayers in a recent referendum turned down the tunnel scheme. Approximate cost of the plant, he said, was given as $250,000 for installation and $15,000 a year for upkeep. Besides that, some of the machinery would have to be replaced after 15 years, and all would have to be replaced after 30 years.

He said the $500,000 proposed tunnel would therefore be a cheaper proposal over a period of 20 years. Reeve Warren said if the survey was carried out and recommendations returned to the council the voting public would have no doubts of relative costs of the two schemes.

LOCAL OPPOSITION

Councillor William C. Kersey pointed out that if a sewage disposal plant was decided upon there would be local opposition to the plant wherever it was installed, there would be danger of explosion and that there was no profit in fertilizer sales from the plants. He said this was pointed out by the engineering firm.

Councillor K. R. Genn asked if the council should pay $2,500 to find out something we are unanimous on now.

"Yes, because we will have to face the facts anyway. What we have now are approximations."

Municipal Engineer H. D. Dawson said he had been impressed that although the engineering firm was in the sewage disposal plant business, they had nonetheless considered a tunnel system of disposal would be cheaper. He said they had erected sewage disposal plants in many Washington and Oregon State cities.

After the survey, a referendum offering a choice of the two systems will be prepared, councillors said.

Vaughan Ponders Answer on Witness Stand

Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, shown in wirephoto taken yesterday during the two and one-half hours he spent on the witness stand and speeded to The Colonist last night, ponders the answer to a question during interrogation by members of the Senate Investigating Committee. In his testimony he made a blanket denial of wrongdoing in help he gave firms doing business with United States Government.

Aide Denies Wrongdoing In Help Given

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (INS).—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan admitted today that he gave "assistance" to and collected campaign funds from John Marston and William Hells, but swore he never used his White House position for the shabby purpose of "influence peddling."

The Presidential military aide was on the witness stand two and one-half hours in the Senate "five percent" probe. He was ordered to return tomorrow for further grilling.

VAUGHAN NERVOUS

Vaughan, perspiring freely and sometimes chewing nervously on an unlit cigar, stubbornly defended his relations with Marston, the ex-Kansas City bootlegger who became a familiar figure around the White House and who now faces possible perjury and tax fraud prosecution.

The White House aide said he has known Hells "for many years." Hells, a prominent race track figure, has been described by Senate investigators as "a big time gambler."

The general declared emphatically that any "assistance" he gave business firms in their dealings with the Government was "without any participation by the President in any way."

REFUTES CHARGE

The name of Frank Costello, New York racketeer, figured in the proceedings. Under questioning of Sen. McCarthy (Rep., Wis.), Vaughan denied that he knew Costello, or that Marston ever told him Costello contributed to campaign funds handed over to the general.

Higher Bus Fares Sought for City

Residents of Greater Victoria may soon have to pay a straight ten-cent cash fare to ride in buses. The British Columbia Electric Railway Company and the Vancouver Island Coach Lines yesterday notified the city that they were seeking a review of the schedule of urban passenger fares "with the end in view of an upward adjustment becoming effective on October 1, 1949."

Although the companies did not mention the amount of the fare increase they would seek it was understood that the straight ten-cent fare would be asked.

Present rate in Greater Victoria is four tickets for 30 cents. Before an interim increase last October it was four for 25 cents. It was reported unofficially yesterday that the companies have suffered a $450,000 loss since the interim increase.

It is also expected that the companies will seek to eliminate the weekly pass. Since the price of the pass was increased from $1 to $1.35, it is reported, users have dropped to roughly 2,400.

Alderman Harold Diggon, chairman of the transportation committee, said a meeting of the committee will be held immediately to "study and analyze" the request of the two companies.

It is believed the committee will oppose the ten-cent cash fare, but may be willing to compromise on the elimination of the pass if the fare increase is held down to four tickets for 35 cents.

PLANNED OPPOSITION

Earlier this summer, when the fare increase was granted in Vancouver, Ald. Diggon said that any such move here would be strenuously opposed by the city.

In the companies' letter to the city, signed by E. W. Arnold, vice-president of the B.C. Electric, and

Red Troops Mass On Yugoslav Rim

May Ease Arms Ban For Tito

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP).—The United States and Britain may ease restrictions soon on the sale of arms to Yugoslavia, responsible diplomatic officials said today.

The matter is under study in Washington and London, they said, and a decision is expected when State Secretary Acheson and Foreign Secretary Bevin discuss the matter in the United States capital in the next week or two.

In the last few weeks British officials have been trying to figure out ways in which they can quietly back up Premier Tito's regime in its quarrel with Russia.

Hits Price To Be Paid For Apples

KENTVILLE, N.S., Aug. 30 (AP).—Prices to be paid for Canadian apples under the new Anglo-Canadian agreement are "most unsatisfactory," R. J. Leslie, general manager of the Nova Scotia Apple Marketing Board, said today.

When dealers realize the "full impact" of the deal, he said, "there will be no elation."

Mr. Leslie was addressing the 39th annual meeting of the United Fruit Companies of Nova Scotia Ltd., Canada's largest apple co-operative.

Present shipments to Britain were built on "political rather than economic lines" and will probably be only for this year.

(Annapolis Valley growers Monday approved a deal which will see export of 400,000 barrels of apples to the United Kingdom. There also is an option for another 125,000 barrels.)

(The total shipment of 525,000 barrels would bring Annapolis Valley growers about $2,000,000.)

BULLETINS

Four Killed

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., Aug. 30 (CP).—Four persons were killed tonight when a freight train hit an automobile at a level crossing on the outskirts of this Eastern Ontario town.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Milne; Mrs. Ernest Ingram and one of the Milnes' two children, who were also in the car—either Fay, ten, or Betty, eight. The other child was critically injured.

Back to Russians

VIENNA, Aug. 31 (AP).—Anatole Barsov, one of two Russian fliers who deserted to the West last year, was handed back to Russian authorities today, an official United States announcement said.

How Moscow Cartoonists View Tito These Days

Both these cartoons appeared in Moscow newspapers. Drawing at left, appearing in newspaper Ivestia, carries caption entitled: "Dancing to the Tune of Wall Street," with Tito depicted as the cobra. Cartoon at right appeared in newspaper Pravda, with title, "In Their Image," with caricatures of Hitler, Mussolini and Himmler on the wall. On Tito's axe are the words "fascist terror."

Five Mechanized Divisions Spread on 110-Mile Front

LONDON, Aug. 31 (Wednesday) (INS).—The elements of five Soviet mechanized divisions—with supporting air units—were reported today to have concentrated on a 110-mile arc around Yugoslavia's vulnerable northeast corner.

Purpose of the Russian military moves were not clear but Belgrade reports interpreted them as an attempt to step up Moscow's war of nerves against its "enemy"—Marshal Tito and his regime.

The Russian troops were reported spreading out through Southern Hungary and Northwestern Romania, not far from the Yugoslav frontier.

BID REJECTED

Reports of the troop movements coincided with dispatch of another violent Soviet note to Belgrade virtually rejecting Yugoslavia's peace bid and denouncing Tito and his followers as "war fascists."

The Yugoslavs were warned: "The Soviet people do not like deserters—they despise them."

Earlier reports told of the arrival of Russian reinforcements for three other Soviet mechanized divisions in Southern Hungary, bringing Soviet military strength in the area to approximately 50,000 men and several hundred tanks.

ESTABLISHING HEADQUARTERS

The Belgrade dispatches said the Russians were establishing headquarters near Timisoara, a town in Northwestern Romania 30 miles from the Yugoslav frontier.

The Russian troops moving up in Southern Hungary were said to be concentrating in the Keckemet area, less than 50 miles from the border of Yugoslavia.

At the same time Russian air units were reported nearing the border.

The reports of Russian troop movements in the Yugoslav frontier area have been coming in for days.

One report said Russian mechanized units in "considerable strength" had reached the town of Szegedin, only seven miles from the Northern Yugoslav frontier.

NOT UNDISCERNED

But Yugoslav officials in Belgrade apparently have not been unduly alarmed by the reports.

Belgrade informants even pointed out that high state and military leaders stayed out of the capital on their vacations after being informed of the troop movement reports.

Belgrade sources discounted any threat of serious military action. "The belief was voiced in the Yugoslav capital that the Russian military moves may be an attempt to bring about an open rebellion by anti-Yugoslav elements within the Communist party."

It was recalled as perhaps significant that the Russians were reported moving their troops about near Yugoslavia's northern frontier after Marshal Tito's declaration that his troops were ready to meet aggression in Southern Yugoslavia.

It is clear that it contains no reference to a proposal for an integration of currencies between Britain, Canada and the United States. The staff chiefs and services ministers attended the afternoon session, when the Washington brief was already disposed of.

Sir Stafford today received reports from the Treasury vanguard already carrying out technical and fact-finding preliminary discussions in Washington. These indicate that the exchanges are taking place in a cordial atmosphere.

U.S. Deports Red Flyer Who Fled Soviet Union

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP).—The State Department disclosed tonight that a Russian air force deserter who twice tried to change sides in the cold war has been deported and will be given a chance to return to his Soviet homeland.

The department made this announcement tonight after the Russian Embassy formally complained over the "sudden disappearance" from Washington of former Lieut. Anatoly P. Borsov, 29.

DESERTED HOMELAND

Borsov was one of two Red Army officers who jumped from a Russian army plane last October 9 at Hocking, in the United States zone of Austria, and announced that they wanted to renounce their allegiance to the Soviet Union. The other officer was Peter Pirigov.

They were brought to the United States and shown the sights, including a tour of Virginia, which they had expressed a desire to see.

The Russian Embassy said today that Borsov, whose name has also been spelled variously as Barsov and Barzov, "repented" over his flight from Russia and was given a Soviet passport to return to the U.S.S.R. July 28.

The State Department cleared up the mystery on what happened to Borsov tonight when a department spokesman said it was discovered that Borsov had been in communication with the Russian Embassy here August 17, and was promptly taken into custody by United States officials.

"FOR SECURITY REASONS"

A State Department spokesman said that "for security reasons," following his seizure by immigration authorities, Borsov was held at Ellis Island, New York, until August 22 and then flown back to Europe.

Borsov now is in Austria and the spokesman said he is "being given an opportunity freely to determine whether he wishes to return to the Soviet Union or remain under American jurisdiction in Europe."

It provides for a direct carriage of passengers and cargo between the two countries. Canadian lines are granted the right to pick up and put down at Brussels, passengers for or from Canada. Similarly, a Belgian air line may pick up or put down at Gander, Labrador, passengers for or from Belgium.

Bolivian Army Captures Rebel Held Cochabamba

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Aug. 30 (AP).—Bolivia's General Staff tonight announced a victory at Cochabamba in the army's first major battle with Rightist rebels trying to overthrow the Government.

The announcement said all resistance has ended in the city of 90,000 which lies 150 miles southeast of La Paz.

It said Government forces will not occupy Cochabamba until tomorrow, however, to avoid "probable disturbances."

Two thousand Government troops launched the attack this morning

ONE OF THREE CITIES

Cochabamba is one of three important cities seized by the rebels in widespread uprisings Saturday in the tin-mining region in the Andes Mountains.

The revolt is led by the National Revolutionary Party (M.N.R.) of the late President Gualberto Villarroel. The Government forces attacked after three bombing raids.

The rebels put up desperate, last-ditch resistance around the main railway station, pouring rifle fire into the Government troops from rooftops and windows.

DROPPED MORTAR SHELLS

Tonight's victory announcement followed La Paz' first direct taste of the conflict today. Two rebel planes dropped mortar shells on La Paz army field and military college. The blasts caused more excitement than damage.

Trim Arms Aid To Billion

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (INS).—The Administration reportedly accepted today a G.O.P.-sponsored Senate compromise trimming proposed arms aid to Atlantic Pact countries to $1,000,000,000.

Atom Bomb Only Effective Weapon If Russia Attacks Pact Nations

What immediate military steps would the Atlantic Pact nations take if Russia should precipitate war with the West in the near future? Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of International News Service, reports in the following article, second of a series, the altered strategy of Western military leaders.

BY KINGSBURY SMITH

PARIS, Aug. 30 (INS).—American and Western European defence strategists are reliably reported in agreement that if the Soviets precipitate a war the only effective weapon that could be used immediately against the Russians would be the atom bomb.

As a result of their recent secret talks with the American joint chiefs of staff, Western military leaders believe the United States would launch atom bomb attacks against Russia the moment America entered the war under the Atlantic Pact alliance.

IF WAR COMES

Soviet fear of such atomic attacks is considered by Western Government and defence leaders the only military deterrent which causes the Kremlin to hesitate risking war with the West.

In fact, American possession of the atom bomb is the only basis for the professed belief of Western leaders that Russia will not resort to war in the near future to settle the world power politics struggle between the two great forces of East and West.

NOT MERE BLUFF

There is good reason to believe that the implied threat to use the atom bomb against Russia if the Soviet regime should start a war is no mere bluff.

One of the United States' most famous military leaders told this writer that if Russia, during the next few years, precipitated a war in which America became involved, the United States would have no alternative but to use the atom bomb immediately.

This prominent military personality also said that Moscow would be one of the first targets of an American atom bomb attack because of its war potential importance. Intelligence reports indicate that 62 per cent of Russia's motor transport industry is concentrated in that city.

In addition, Moscow has important ball-bearing and aircraft factories as well as some of the leading Soviet air research and aeronautical engineering laboratories.

Troops Pound Greek Rebels

WITH THE GREEK ARMY ON THE GRAMMOS FRONT, Aug. 30 (CP).—Maiden Communist guerrillas fought fanatically today to defend a small, horseshoe-shaped pocket on the Albanian border.

Pounded by artillery and Greek-manned United States Navy planes, the guerrillas hung on desperately to keep open routes of retreat for their comrades trying to escape the Greek army's mop-up of the Grammos mountain bastion.

S.I.U. Renews Boycott on Handling Lake Ships Manned by C.S.U. Crews

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 30 (CP). — A spokesman for the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) said today the S.I.U. has renewed its boycott on the handling of Great Lakes ships manned by Canadian Seamen's Union (C.S.U.) members.

In Montreal, the C.S.U. issued a statement charging that the S.I.U. is interfering with Canadian lake ships under C.S.U. contracts, and threatened to retaliate by seeking a boycott of all United States ocean-going ships sailing with S.I.U. crews.

24 SHIPS TIED UP
The S.I.U. spokesman here, William Stevenson, the union's local port agent, said their loading embargo of C.S.U.-manned ships has tied up 24 ships of the Paterson Steamships, Limited, of Port William, Ont., some 20 vessels and six barges of the Upper Lakes & St. Lawrence Company, and six ships of the Ontario Transport Company.

Stevenson said the ban was renewed because the Paterson Company failed to comply with an agreement to screen out Communist members from crews. The C.S.U. has been suspended from the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress for alleged Communist activities.

Gordon MacQuill, manager of the Paterson Line, called the Communist action "a red herring" and added: "We are just as anxious as the Seafarers' Union to screen Communists from our crews. . . . If they can point out the Communists on our ships we'll put them out."

The unloading of the Prescodoc, a Paterson ship, has been stopped here, Stevenson said. The Prescodoc is loaded with 1,800 tons of newspaper for the Milwaukee Journal. Three other ships carrying newspaper are tied up in Chicago.

Networks To Defend Gift Shows

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (INS). — Three major broadcasting networks will fire their biggest legal guns within the next day or two in an effort to save radio's multi-million dollar giveaway programs from the Government ban scheduled to take effect October 1.

The American Broadcasting Company and the National Broadcasting Company confirmed today that action will be started in Federal Court in New York, Southern District.

SIMILAR ACTION
The Columbia Broadcasting System said nothing officially, but it was learned that C.B.S. plans to take similar action.

The broadcasters will defend their right to give away money, cars, houses, and a variety of other things, ranging from elephants to airplane rides to the North Pole to lucky jackpot winners.

City Seaman Killed in Fall

Lawrence Baker, 26-year-old Victoria seaman, was killed in Port Alice Monday after falling ten feet on a barge to land on his head.

Baker, bargemaster for the Island Tug & Barge Ltd., Victoria, was at Port Alice aboard the tug Island Forester when he was killed.

His body will be returned to Victoria after an inquest at Port Alice. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Baker, four brothers and three sisters.

Senator "Improved"

Senator Ian Allister Mackenzie, of British Columbia, tonight was reported from Banff, Alberta, to be in "slightly improved" condition after suffering a serious heart seizure Monday. However, hospital officials said the 59-year-old senator's condition was "still very serious."

Second Blaze Sweeps Plant

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 30 (CP). — The second disastrous fire within two years swept the huge Chromium Mining and Smelting Corporation plant here early today, destroying a storage plant and several adjacent smaller buildings. Unofficial estimates of the damage were more than $100,000.

Council Moves To Clean Up "Front Door"

Acting on Alderman Charles Banfield's suggestion that the harbor is "the front door to the City of Victoria," City Council yesterday asked the finance committee to search for funds to start a harbor clean-up.

Alderman Banfield estimated that four unsightly piles in the harbor near the Causeway could be removed for $65, while $475 would be required to clean out the basin east of the Erie Street fisherman's floats. He asked also for $600 to be used for the installation of four buoys for the use of visiting yachtsmen.

Even though no money had been provided in this year's estimates, Alderman Banfield argued that the city should set an example to industrial concerns fronting on the harbor by initiating a harbor clean-up.

"Some of the worst offenders are sometimes the industrial concerns," he stated.

He warned that mud flats were developing in the harbor below the Causeway because debris was not stopped from floating in.

U.K. Prelate In Dominion

HALIFAX, Aug. 30 (CP). — Most Rev. Cyril F. Garbett, Archbishop of York and second-ranking prelate of the Church of England, arrived here today aboard the liner Aquitania for a busy two months in Canada and the United States.

He is going to Quebec for a day and will return here Saturday for the general synod of the Church of England in Canada, opening next week.

Polish Schoolboys Jailed as Plotters

WARSAW, Aug. 30 (Reuters). — Nine Polish schoolboys who allegedly were "conspiring to overthrow the Polish state by force" today were sentenced to prison terms of from two to five years.

One defendant, 19-year-old Wacław Puck, said a Roman Catholic priest encouraged him to maintain an underground organization.

priest advised him to accumulate arms and find someone more mature and skilled to direct operations, the defendant said.

Logging Company Hit Heavily As Recent Quake Toppled Tanks

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Aug. 30 (CP). — The British Columbia West Coast suffered more damage than was at first realized in the earthquake off the Queen Charlotte Islands, August 21, it was disclosed today.

Related reports from isolated Cumshewa Inlet in the Charlottes said the Aero Logging Company toppled up damage estimated in the thousands of dollars.

The main tremor Sunday night dislodged two crude oil tanks containing 14,000 gallons of fuel. One carried away part of the company wharf in its fall, another crushed 75 feet of trestle when it struck the end of a logging railway.

The escaping fuel polluted a wide fishing and beach area.

Report Reds Retake Juikin

HONGKONG, Aug. 31 (Wednesday) (INS). — Chinese Communists today were reported to have recaptured their first "capital" at Juikin in Southeastern Kiangsi Province from which they had been routed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces in 1934.

The Communist Peiping radio in a broadcast announced the return of the Communist troops to Juikin near the Fukien Province frontier. The village was Communist headquarters from 1920 to 1934 before the "long march" of the Communists to Yenan, in the northern province of Shensi.

Claims Ruling Union Victory

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30 (INS). — Longshore Union Chief Harry Bridges claimed today that a Honolulu Federal Court ruling on the Territory's Dock Strike Act in the 122-day-old dock strike was a "victory for our union."

The court denied a restraining order sought by the C.I.O. union to prevent the Territory from seizing the Islands' seven struck stevedoring firms but at the same time it refused to uphold the Act's ban on picketing of Government ship-loading.

Division Manager G. H. Brandt said the block-square warehouse was valued at $1,500,000. He estimated the value of groceries destroyed at around $3,000,000. More than 35 firemen were hurt.

Blaze Causes Heavy Loss

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30 (INS). — A fire causing an estimated $4,000,000 loss raged for six hours today through a grocery warehouse of Safeway Stores, Incorporated.

Division Manager G. H. Brandt said the block-square warehouse was valued at $1,500,000. He estimated the value of groceries destroyed at around $3,000,000. More than 35 firemen were hurt.

He left his native land as soon as he could and spent a year in England arranging passage to Canada. Friends arranged for him to come to Ottawa and to obtain work in the laundry washing clothes.

Prefers Job In Laundry To Czech Reds

OTTAWA, Aug. 30 (CP). — Oda Hora, a former member of the Czechoslovakian Parliament, has taken a job washing clothes in an Ottawa laundry because he prefers freedom to Communist domination.

In Prague, he and his wife and small son lived in constant fear of the Communist police. Until the Communist coup d'état in Czechoslovakia in February, 1948, Mr. Hora was a National Socialist member of Parliament. He was also a member of the Parliament's security committee. As such he was an outspoken opponent of the Communist domination of the Czech police.

Wholesale Arrests Mark Czech Move To Halt Revolt Planned by "West"

PRAGUE, Aug. 30 (INS). — The Czechoslovak Government said today it had smashed an anti-Communist underground plot to start an armed revolution at the signal of an unidentified Western power.

The announcement was made by the official press bureau which said the conspiracy was halted at its start and wholesale arrests carried out just as the plotters were about to start the revolt against the Communist regime.

Disclosure of the plot came at the conclusion of a secret trial of scores of defendants, at least 75 of whom were sentenced to death or life imprisonment. An unspecified number drew prison terms ranging from one to 25 years, including a number who were accused of withholding information concerning the plot.

TOYED WITH PLOTTERS
Czech officials said the underground group was discovered last Spring and police were assigned to play a cat-and-mouse game with the plotters, watching and waiting an opportune moment to strike so that as many as possible would fall into the trap.

The Czech version of the conspiracy said that the plotters had planned to start the coup on a public holiday, to avoid possibility of immediate counter-action.

The official Czech news agency Victoria Unit No. 12, reports that said many of the conspirators were rounded up as they assembled at an unspecified rendezvous.

German Police May Fight Tito
BERLIN, Aug. 30 (AP). — The West-Berlin newspaper Sozialdemokrat said today a vanguard of 3,500 heavily-armed East-German police have been sent to the Yugoslav border for a "possible war against Tito."

The newspaper said perhaps more will be sent for "anti-Tito action" in the Balkans, and "with feverish hurry, tanks, guns and other military equipment are being loaded on trains and trucks to go with the German police troops."

British and United States intelligence officers said they knew of the report, but could not confirm it.

Foundation Stone Ceremony Planned
The laying of the foundation stone of the new Sidney Unit of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday.

No Action Taken Yet On Traffic Control

The debate in City Council yesterday centring on plans submitted by the public works committee for traffic control at the congested Fountain and Junction intersections became almost as involved as

Municipal Briefs Of the District

The Greater Victoria Girl Guide Association will be notified by City Council that a zoning by-law prohibits the moving of a former Dallas Road army hut to property at the southeast corner of Chester Street and Fairfield Road.

Earlier this year the Guides applied for permission to move the army hut to the new location. The application resulted in protests from residents in the vicinity of Chester Street and Fairfield Road.

Yesterday the lands committee notified council that before the hut could be moved rezoning would be required.

Council yesterday approved a change in zoning classification from "single family" to "commercial" governing four lots at the northwest corner of Dundas and Alton Streets.

Alderman Harold Diggon notified City Council yesterday that the application of the British Columbia Telephone Company was still being studied by the public utilities committee. He advised that the hearing on the company's application was scheduled for next October.

City Council yesterday endorsed a finance committee recommendation that the 1950 council pay a civic grant of $2,500 to assist the Community Chest of Greater Victoria in its 1949 campaign for funds.

"I presume we made a donation this year," commented Alderman John Baxter.

He was informed that this year's grant, which we are ashamed of, amounted to only $250.

A request of the E. & N. Railway Company calling for the closure of Discovery Street west of Store and Wood Streets was referred by City Council yesterday to the city solicitor and the city engineer for report.

The company stated they wished to establish a "team track yard" on property which they purchased from the Puget Sound Lumber Company. Such a development would require the closing of the section of Discovery Street, it was stated.

Council yesterday authorized the increase of bus service on the Gonzales route to ten minutes and the decrease of service on the Richardson Street route to 30 minutes.

The transportation committee in its report to council stated that the B.C. Electric Railway Co. had noted that traffic had greatly increased on the Gonzales route and decreased on the Richardson route.

The committee notified council that the new bus "turn around" at Runnymede Avenue would be put in operation on Friday, September 16.

City Council yesterday named Police Commissioner B. J. Gadsden as its delegate to the forthcoming conference of the British Columbia Aviation Council to be held in Victoria on September 6.

College Gives Night Class On Personnel

The course on "Personnel Administration," which will be an important feature of the Victoria College's non-credit evening sessions this winter, promises to provide a thorough study of this important facet of the business world.

An impressive list of instructors lined up for the course includes Miss Isabel M. L. Beatty, M.A., supervisor of the women's division, National Employment Service; R. L. W. Ritchie, B.A., chief personnel officer, British Columbia Civil Service Commission; and as assistants, R. A. Mahoney, B.A., M.B.A., associate professor of commerce, University of British Columbia; C. B. Conway, Ph.D., director of tests, measurements and research, British Columbia Department of Education; and A. M. Whicker, M.L.A., formerly a member of the Department of Labor in British Columbia.

BEGINS SEPTEMBER 28 The course will begin September 28 and classes will be held each Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. until December 14.

The total fee is $12 and individual lectures may be attended for $1.50. Lectures will include treatment of subjects ranging from history of management down to union status, organization and viewpoint.

Such subjects as job analysis and classification and the setting up of a personnel department will be covered.

Alderman Hunter advised that any plan approved by Provincial engineers would not cost the city "a five-cent piece," since the Government contributed $2,000 a year to the upkeep of arterial highways coming into the city. He said the city could receive this money in a lump sum several years in advance instead of year by year.

Mayor George added that the Government would not pay for a plan which they did not approve. "If I was on the Town Planning Commission I would just about resign after the work they did on the other plan," commented Alderman Aubrey Kent. He argued that in fairness, council should refer the new plan to the Commission and get a report from them before deciding between the two plans.

OBJECTS TO ISLANDS "If this plan is adopted, to go back to the Town Planning Commission's plan would practically mean undoing all the work we might do with this plan," advised City Engineer Cyril Jones.

He said that the committee's plan was "a little less expensive" than the Commission plan, but to adopt it in its entirety would involve "considerable expenditure."

Alderman Waldo Skillings objected to the committee's rotary island plan on grounds that it would slow traffic and create a bottleneck "when it is our business to disperse traffic quickly."

After voting in favor of submitting his committee's plan to the Town Planning Commission, Alderman Hunter agreed that it "might be in order" to pass on the Junction plan also to the Commission. He estimated it would cost $4,000 to put this plan into effect.

rush-hour traffic at the ten bottle-necks.

At first sentiment seemed to favor giving the green light to the Fountain proposal by approving the committee's plan without reference to the Town Planning Commission, which had advanced a plan of its own.

Then a red light was flashed and council ruled that proposals both for the Junction and the Fountain should go to the Town Planning Commission for study and recommendation before a final decision was made.

Council did order that directional lines, similar to those painted on downtown streets, be laid out on streets leading into the Fountain intersection.

New Mercury Vapor Lamps To Be Tried on Yates Street

The old cluster-type street lights were ordered removed yesterday by City Council from both sides of Yates Street, between Bannister and Douglas Streets.

Alderman Harold Diggon, chairman of the electric light committee, said it was proposed to use the block to test the effectiveness of new mercury vapor street lamps.

Cost of replacing the cluster lights with the modern mercury vapor lights, which will be suspended from 12 steel poles in the block, was estimated at $3,600.

Should the mercury lamps prove successful, Ald Diggon said that recommendations would be made from time to time for conversion of cluster lights hanging from 452 standards in the downtown area.

He described the out-moded cluster lights as "wasteful and inefficient," even though they present an "aesthetic atmosphere." He said the cluster-light system had deteriorated, resulting in high maintenance costs.

Though more expensive to install the mercury lamp is 2 1/2 times more efficient than the incandescent lamp, he added. He recalled cluster lights were installed in Victoria in 1912.

Council approved the electric light committee's request that an order be placed for delivery of the mercury lamps in 1950, with provision for the expenditure to be made in the 1950 estimates.

PROUDFOOT BETTER Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, M.L.A. elect for Victoria, was in an "improved" condition at the Veterans' Hospital last night, according to hospital authorities.

His condition earlier yesterday had been described as "serious." Mr. Proudfoot, according to relatives, is expected to be in hospital for six weeks.

APPROVE PLANS Approval of plans for a new Imperial Oil Company service station on the southwest corner of Esquimalt Road and Comford Street was given at last Monday's meeting of the Esquimalt Council.

The new station will replace one which burned down about a year and a half ago.

Members of City Council took another look at a request made last January calling for removal of a "jungle" of broom from the seaward side of Dallas Road, between Paddon Avenue and South Turner Street, and wondered why something hadn't been done about it.

They asked the Parks Committee to hurry up a report outlining the extent of the work involved.

Residents of Dallas Road petitioned the city last January to remove the broom. They were notified last month that city officials did not think it advisable that the growth be removed.

This week the petitioners complained that the people of Victoria were being asked "to make this a city of gardens," while the council was lax about keeping "its own house in order."

WORSE AT NIGHT R. S. Porter, 610 Dallas Road, spokesman for the petitioners, declared that "a regular parade of delivery trucks, milk wagon drivers and your own boulevard and ear-bashers make this spot a public lavatory."

"At night there have been more serious incidents which necessitated getting the police out here twice within three weeks," he added.

He mentioned the vast and fruitless attempts that had been made in his former state to "plant" game birds and fish for the sake of the sportsman. None of them had been "even the slightest bit successful."

By way of comparison, he referred to Canada and its plentiful supply of game birds, fish and other wildlife and warned against depletion of such resources.

INSTALL TELEVISION Esquimalt Branch 172 of the Canadian Legion, has installed a television set in their quarters at 622 Admirals Road, where they have been entertaining their members and friends in the evenings.

PLAN MEETING The first autumn meeting of the B.C. Retired Civil Servants' Association will be held in Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street, on Thursday next at 2:30 p.m.

INJURED IN FALL Mrs. Minnie Carr, 33 Government Street, suffered a possible broken thigh yesterday at 3:10 p.m. when she tripped after stepping off a B.C. Electric bus at the intersection of Government and Niagara Streets.

According to police reports, the bus had stopped and the elderly lady fell to the sidewalk after apparently stubbing her toe.

Colonist Douglas Street Home Will Be Started Next Tuesday

Following a public hearing in the Council Chamber yesterday, the City Council gave final passage to a zoning amendment by-law which will permit "The Daily Colonist" to start work on new modern premises on Douglas Street, just south of the Fountain intersection where Douglas and Government Streets and Hillside Avenue converge.

The zoning amendment also allowed a change in zoning classification from "apartment" to "commercial" on property lying between Hillside Avenue, Kings Road, Douglas Street and a lane to the East.

The new building will be located on the east side of Douglas Street between the Dunstan Block and the North Ward School.

WORK BEGINS TUESDAY which will house both The Colonist and Radio Station CJVI, will start next Tuesday. Luney Brothers & Hamilton, contractors, said last night that equipment for the first part of the job would be at work at that time.

Plans and specifications have already been completed by the architects, Birley, Wade & Stockhill.

Ultramodern in design, the three-story front of hollow tile construction and reinforced concrete frame will house executive, business and editorial offices.

New, modern offices of CJVI will be located on the third floor of the front portion, providing a link between the island's leading newspaper and its radio voice.

The centre portion of the building, of quonset-type construction, will accommodate the composing room and a rear frame portion will house the presses and mailing room.

A new high-speed, five-unit Goss press has been purchased and will be installed as quickly as possible following completion of the building. It will be capable of three-color reproduction as well as black.

The present Colonist building at 1211 Broad Street will continue to be occupied, as a convenience to the public, by representatives of the classified, display advertising, accounting, circulation and editorial departments. For the time being, at least, the commercial printing department will also remain in its present location.

And here's the way he excuses yesterday's weather.

"A weak surge of moist air which brought cloudiness to southwestern British Columbia early yesterday, has moved to the northern coast where scattered showers and a few thunderstorms were reported."

So you see how lucky you were. The unsettled conditions were only temporary, the weatherman hastens to explain.

Sunshine and flowers are still the order of the day.

Stopping Work Seldom Cures Anything

I T was that first headlong plunge into the briny that mattered. I froze ten thousand times beforehand just thinking about it.

That is, until the moment for the plunge drew nigh.

Perhaps if I could have taken a forthright header into the water the ordeal would have been easier. At least the initial shock would have been brief. But the tide was just coming in over the sands, which meant a long wade-out to reach a decent enough depth for the baptismal ducking. And nothing is more heart-chilling than the creeping paralysis that inches coldly up your legs under such circumstances.

Irrigation Needs Water in Quantities

WATER for the irrigation of Saanich farm lands is once more to the front. Provincial water and land-use engineers are conducting a study of the possibility of irrigation for the peninsula, together with data on soil surveys and the like. The farmers on the one hand ask for the irrigation, and the Government on the other is inviting them to establish their own irrigation district and make their own levies for that, as is done elsewhere in the province.

No irrigation scheme for Saanich, however, will be worth the paper it is written on until engineers have established a practical means of getting sufficient water to the peninsula at costs that can be borne by the users, notably those on the land. So far there have been many plans and much discussion, but the central problem emerges. Where is the water to come from? Can it be piped to the spot? What will be the costs of that, and who will carry them?

Looking at it from a broad standpoint, the result of effective irrigation would repay a substantial outlay on capital works. If the peninsula cannot afford to install these works, however, all of the schemes will remain upon paper unless the Government can help. There is plenty of precedent for Provincial assistance with the initiation of new water districts, and Saanich is certainly the longest neglected part of British Columbia in that respect. A little give and take all round should advance this issue from the problem stage, and bring it to the point where the first step can be taken—that is to get the water with which to irrigate.

These same people, I came afterwards to know, were a hardy breed to be mixed up with at the seaside. They set too stringent a standard.

There was, for instance, a former sea captain, who like all his ilk seemed to have imbued salt water with his babyhood milk. The sea held neither terror nor delight for him—he knew far too much about it. There was a little Vancouver merchant, who entered the ocean as nonchalantly as he shot pars on the golf links, and since I saw him at both these sporting activities I was able to note that his aplomb was enviable. There was a James Bay official who made a practice of dipping at least twice a day, an affinity no doubt deriving from association with the water rights branch of the Government service. There was another civil service executive, a stalwart figure who strode stolidly into the waves with the confidence befitting his stature.

There were the estimable spouses of these gentlemen, also, about whom I shan't particularize since I hope to bask in their smiles when I meet them again. In any case, the feminine sex have a decided edge when it comes to entering salt water. They can squeal over their heart's content and no one thinks ill of them, that being expected when ladies poke a delicate foot into the sea. They don't have to be stoics, like men are supposed to be.

I went in, of course—eventually. First of all, though, I sent up a silent prayer that one or other of the foregoing heroes would lead the way. I thought I might sneak in unnoticed in their wake.

But the sun was shining, they were smeared on to blankets, and they seemed in no hurry to move. Neither was I, really, except that I realized if I didn't get this first plunge over soon I might return to Victoria wholly unbaptized. So with a great effort I summoned my latent manhood and rose to my feet. Quaking inwardly I put on a bold front and rushed to meet the waves.

Mercifully, I was soon wet all over.

After that it got easier every time. In fact I grew so cocky about plunging into the briny that I landed myself in a doleful predicament.

We had been totting up our swims, the lot of us, after about ten days of sun and sea bathing, and I discovered that somehow I was one behind. My mood was now such that this discrepancy could not be tolerated. So, blithely I said that the next day I would go in before breakfast, before lunch, and before dinner.

Captive dawn, as it has a habit of doing, I rose early, and immediately looked out the window. The sky was overcast and the sea seemed to be leaden cold. I began to regret my boast.

If I could have crept back between the sheets I would have done so, but for all I knew eyes might be peering from behind curtains to see if I would keep my word. My face, as the Japanese say, was at stake.

Unwillingly, then, I donned my trunks, grabbed a towel and walked down through the hotel garden to the beach fifty yards away. Sure enough the sea was like liquid ice. What a fool I had been the night before! But I didn't even hesitate, lest someone was peeping.

Splash! Heavens, it was ten times worse than that first dip! I still shiver when I think of it.

And here's the sad part. No one, I learned afterwards, was looking. They were all tucked warmly in bed. I was a lonely hero for nothing at all.

Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll:
Leave thy low-vaulted past;
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free.
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I T was that first headlong plunge into the briny that mattered. I froze ten thousand times beforehand just thinking about it.

I had gone Up-Island to my favorite trysting-place, full of zip at the prospect of renewing close acquaintance with the salt sea waves. A year's lay-off had whetted my skin. It fairly

But the tide was just coming in over the sands, which meant a long wade-out to reach a decent enough depth for the baptismal ducking. And nothing is more heart-chilling than the creeping paralysis that inches coldly up your legs under such circumstances.

It did not help one bit that three or four youngsters were splashing merrily as though they were having a hot bath. I'm not a youngster any more. Nor was it any sort of guide that in answer to an apprehensive query one nine-year-old should say the water was warmer than it was at the Willows Beach.

Willows Beach! Ye gods, thought I, if that icy stretch is to be the criterion . . .

So there I was sitting dressed like Mahatma Gandhi but bereft of the fortitude he was wont to display. All my previous bravado was oozing relentlessly away. I began to think I must have been somebody else on the way up. I was surrounded by people but I felt forlornly alone.

These same people, I came afterwards to know, were a hardy breed to be mixed up with at the seaside. They set too stringent a standard.

Germany in Postwar Europe

Second in a series of articles specially written for The Colonist by a Vancouver Island man who recently returned from Germany, where he spent several years in the service of British Intelligence.

By DOUGLAS MORRIS

I N his book "Assault Without Arms" General Erskine painted a very vivid picture of the futility of the occupation of the Rhineland in his day. And so today it must be considered how much more futile to the occupier, and beneficial to the occupied, has this more recent era proved.

It must not be forgotten that unlike occupation in the 'twenties, Allied control has in this instance been on a vast scale, but it has also been very much divided within itself.

This lack of harmony eventually brought about the collapse of Four-Power control in Berlin itself, and resulted in complete division of the East from the West zones, each with its own currency and trade problems. The airlift could not be discontinued for the loss of face pretext on the one hand, and the necessity of supplying the necessities of life to thousands of control and occupation officials and their families (whose usefulness was questionable with the collapse of central control) on the other; grew to such gigantic proportions and became such a financial burden to the German people in the form of taxation that a cry of halt was made, before the whole financial structure of the new German economy was destroyed.

Can the world wonder that the German politicians during their recent campaign were exasperatingly critical of the Allied occupation authorities' policies, and expounded a platform of "down with the occupation costs, and out the occupiers." It did not need a Gestapo this time to goad the people into voting the right way; even in the face of a Red bogey occupying practically half their country, the path was clear and in a general wave of enthusiasm for German national unity, as only they as a race are capable of, they supported Adenauer and his platform of "Let us rid ourselves of the occupation forces."

So Germany today, even under Four Power control and occupation, has within four years under Allied guidance and help, risen from the grave. From a position of utter dejection and despair she has in that short space of time become a nation that has held the spotlight in the world kaleidoscope of European politics for more than a year, and is rapidly regaining her place as the leading industrial and political power in Central Europe.

No person who did not see Germany in her grave in May, 1945, can visualize what this enormous effort at reconstruction can mean to the future economy of Europe. Nor can the indomitable courage and the unbreakable spirit of this race to rise again in the face of such adversity be appreciated. What is clear to the world today is which way her leaders intend to swing the political pendulum after four years of concerted effort on the part of the Western Allies to re-educate and attempt to mount this strongly nationalistic race on the Democratic merry-go-round.

This attempt to bring Germany into the orbit of the democracies has to date cost an enormous sum and a vast amount of time and effort on the part of individual countries and their representative bodies in Germany, but the people answered with a vote in favor of nationalism and not democracy. While her people have been re-educated to a new way of life after 13 years of Nazi dictatorship, and her economy has been re-established to an unbelievable degree, the fact remains that the Allies have not occupied Germany for that country's benefit, but for their own.

Irrespective of the frightful financial burden that has been borne by the taxpayers of the countries exercising control over the German corpse, the world has learned little if anything of the same burden that has fallen on the German people. While the pros and cons of this point are open to individual argument, the fact remains that during the drafting of the Basic Law constitution at Bonn early this year, questions affecting the finances of the country were the source of considerable delaying tactics on the part of the German ministers in their acceptance of that constitution, and as has been seen, formed a very important part of the platform of the victorious party in the federal elections.

From the detailed civil administration of the people to the overall economic and industrial recovery, controls have been and are still being exercised and their effects felt. But where in 1945 the burden of control law enforcement was being borne by a huge army of not too efficient Allied administrators, today the majority of all such administration is once again the responsibility of German officials, with a skeleton staff of Allied supervisory officials whose powers become more and more limited with the ever-increasing German legislation on the one hand and passive resistance on the other.

So often the question is asked "Does Nazism still exist in Germany today?" and the obvious answer is "No, we have destroyed it." That is a very unsatisfactory answer, commonly headlined by leading European correspondents. Only last week Elmore Philpott wrote: "I saw no evidence of a revised Nazism on my recent trip in Germany; there were universal evidences that German Nationalism was everywhere." How true in its final analysis. The German people as a race have not changed; while the Allies have made every effort by effective laws to destroy Nazism and all that could be traced of that party, its adherents, and teachings during the period of occupation to date, the fact remains that German nationalism and the spirit of national pride is as strong and virile today as it was under Bismarck. Just as the German people in every walk of life will use every subtlety and method of deception to discredit the occupation forces and their control laws, so will the occupying forces themselves fall completely and utterly to destroy that spirit of a race who with their pride, tradition and culture, will continue to flourish under the adversity of and subjection to a conqueror.

Some of the ideals the National Socialist Party stood for in the days of Hitler are still alive in Germany today, especially among the youth, who have seen nothing better under democracy. The German press today is free, and while most of the Nazi leaders have been exterminated, one or two arch criminals made good their escape. Informal articles penned by a notorious character like Skorzeny, a Nazi "wanted" criminal hiding out in Argentina, have recently appeared in the Austrian press and various magazines, exhorting followers of the old regime to remain true to the party ideals.

Nazism perhaps is dead, but German nationalism is very much alive, and by virtue of the mandate it acquired in the recent poll, its usefulness as a potent political force, minus the poisonous fangs of the criminal Gestapo and its adherent elements, may in the future it is hoped prove a very strong deterrent to the spread of a far more insidious ideology.

Observation Car

By G. B.

A TOURIST from Oregon stopped his automobile outside a small store at Chemainus and commenced to argue with his wife, punctuating his remarks by waving a small road map. Thinking that the couple might need directions, a truck driver stopped over to the car and inquired: "Can I help you folks?" The tourist replied: "You sure can. How do you get to Nanaimo from here?" I got a good road map at Victoria, but the kid was eating hot dogs while he looked at it, and now the next 75 miles are covered with mustard. . . . After a troop of Boy Scouts from an Up-Island village had enjoyed a lesson in woodcraft amid tall fir trees near a large farm, the scoutmaster said to three of the lads detailed to cook lunch: "We shall have lettuce with our pork and beans. Green vegetables are necessary for health. Here is 50 cents. One of you lads nip over to that farm and buy four or five heads of lettuce." The smallest of the trio piped up: "I will go, sir. How big do you want the lettuce?" The scoutmaster replied: "About the size of your head." Ten minutes later the owner of the farm walked briskly over to the troop and remarked: "One of your boys must be a little touched in the head from the sun. He is in my vegetable patch trying his Scout hat on the lettuce."

A famous story from the Oak Bay golf links concerns two men who reached a hole near one of the many small coves. A ball driven by one landed amid driftwood beside an elderly lady sitting under a parasol while she perused a novel. After the men had searched more than 15 minutes for the ball, the lady looked up from her book and said with a smile: "Would it be cheating if I told you where the ball is?" Food hint: "Eat peas with honey. Some do it all their life. They do taste kind of funny, but it keeps them on the knife."

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—Local retail merchants are taking action which may lead to abolition of the Wednesday half-holiday during the Summer months.

50 YEARS AGO—The City Council apparently would like to obtain authority to commit to prison for contempt any person who ventures to criticize its action.

85 YEARS AGO—Governor Kennedy will leave for Books today by H.M.S. Beaver, intending to ride up to Leech River by the Books River trail and return by Munro's trail.

SINKING OF IROQUOIS

Sir,—I read your account of ship disasters in Sunday's paper and you state the Iroquois foundered near Sidney on December 10, 1911. I think if you look back in your files you will find it happened on April 10, 1910.

DOGS AND GARDENS

Sir,—I quite agree with your correspondent "Dogs and Dogs," and think it is quite time the city prohibited dogs of the large breed from being kept in the city, which is no place for them as they naturally need to roam, which the smaller ones do not. One cannot understand the mentality of those keeping dogs who do not take interest in them and care for them. My sympathy is with the sisters here who suffer greatly from wandering dogs who destroy their garden.

They are public-spirited enough to allow tourists to enter and take photos of their interesting and grotesque shrubs and consider the least the city can do is to protect their interest, considering the benefit they derive from the tourists. May I also point out the fact that the land facing them was formerly so well kept with flowers, is now a dumping ground for garbage and empty tins; not a pleasing foreground for the beautiful ships which come in the harbor.

DAMAGE FROM SPRAYING

Sir,—One of your correspondents, Mr. J. Spence-Matthews, in a letter to your paper made an excellent suggestion regarding the broadcasting of flower seeds along the Island Highway. It would appear however that the poison spray operation undertaken recently by the Department of Public Works on both sides of the road allowance would doom such a scheme to complete failure.

Motorists cannot have failed to notice the utter destruction of vegetation on both sides of the road starting at Langford, through Goldstream, over the Malahat and beyond. Poison spray, 2-4-D, if correct, has been remorselessly sprayed by tank car on endless portions of the highway to mar thoroughly our beautiful scenery. Nothing has been spared, flowers and bushes, maples, alders, dogwoods, are now dead or will be soon. In some cases, portions of private property bordering the highway were not spared the poison. One can well visualize the unpleasantness that this dead vegetation will present in the near future after the leaves have fallen off and skeletons of dead trees are left standing.

Since the Department of Public Works possesses efficient and modern brush cutting machines, it seems hard to understand why such ruthless methods were adopted and why they were not confined to vulnerable portions of the road, such as poor-visioned corners.

It is suggested that if further poisonous efforts are to be undertaken, the Department of Public Works concentrate on the large and ever-increasing patches of noxious weeds that are to be seen on our secondary roads and which are a plague to all good farmers.

SWEEPSTAKES

Sir,—Referring to the editorial in your August 28 issue entitled, "British Columbia Hospital Scheme Must Carry Itself," I would suggest that an easy way out of this present dilemma would be to operate a sweepstake, under strict Government control, to meet the present deficit in the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Plan.

It is generally recognized that the most painless method of extracting money from the public is through sweepstakes.

From "The Chambered Nautilus"

Your after you beheld the silent toil
That spread his lustrous coil;
Still, as the spiral grew,
He left the past year's dwelling for the new,
Stole with soft step its shining archway through,
Built up its idle door,
Stretched in his last-found home, and knew
The old no more.

Thanks for the heavenly message brought
By thee,
Child of the wandering sea,
Cast from her lap a lovelorn;
From thy dead lips a clearer note is born
Than ever Triton blew from wreath'd horn!
While on mine ear it rings,
Through the deep caves of thought I hear a Voice that sings:—

Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll:
Leave thy low-vaulted past;
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free.
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea.

States Publicity Needed For U.N.E.S.C.O. Work

OTTAWA, Aug. 30 (CP)—Dr. J. G. Althouse, chief director of education for Ontario, today said Canadian educators are dissatisfied with the way the Federal Government is directing Canada's work in the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

He said what Canada needed was a national commission which could serve as a kind of "propaganda machine" to publicize the work of U.N.E.S.C.O. in Canada and make Canadian more conscious of educational activities in other countries.

The Toronto educationist, president of the Canadian Education Association, rejected suggestions by the Royal Commission on Arts and Science Development that possibly the practical value of U.N.E.S.C.O. was nebulous.

SPREADING GOOD WILL

He said U.N.E.S.C.O. had value in spreading international good will, especially among the children. It provided a basis for common international understanding.

He presented the commission with the Canadian Education Association proposal for the Government-financed commission, agreed on by the provincial deputy ministers of education and by other educational administrators in the Dominion.

The same proposal was urged on the cultural investigators earlier in the day by the 60,000-member Canadian Teachers' Federation.

Oddities

BALTIMORE, Aug. 30 (P)—Maryland's so-called cat-rabbit has been unmasked. Experts say it probably is a Manx cat.

They're hob-tailed creatures that hop like rabbits. Actually they are cats. Manx are rare, but are not freaks.

Like the Manx, the animal trapped Monday by Leonard and Edward Claridge near their home has the features of a cat but its rear legs resemble those of a rabbit.

Arthur R. Watson, director of a local zoo, said pictures of the Claridge catch indicate it as a Manx.

HORLEY, Surrey, England, Aug. 30 (Reuters)—A small boy stood for hours at the front of a large crowd at an auction sale of antiques.

Near the end of the sale an impressive suit of Japanese armor was put up. "How much for this?" said the auctioneer.

A youthful voice rang out, "One shilling" (20 cents).

There was silence. People gazed at each other and smiled. The auctioneer waited with poised hammer. Down it went, and he took the boy's shilling for a suit of armor worth £20 (£40).

The boy triumphantly wheeled away his bargain in a baby carriage. But he left without the sword and shield, which were sent on to him.

I.W.A. Meets September 26

VANCOUVER, Aug. 30 (CP)—The International Woodworkers of America (I.W.O.-C.C.L.) will hold its annual international convention here starting September 26.

An estimated 400 delegates from 12 districts embracing Canada and the United States are expected.

I.W.A. members of British Columbia's coastal logging operations currently are threatening strike action to back up their demands for higher wages.

Provinces Hope to Aid Future Owners of Homes

OTTAWA, Aug. 30 (CP)—Steps to stimulate home ownership in Canada may be taken by the various governments as a result of recent discussions between Reconstruction Minister Winters and premiers of the ten provinces.

Mr. Winters expects to place before the Cabinet Wednesday a number of recommendations based on his findings during the tour. He one of the recommendations probably would deal with the lowering of down payments now required of prospective home-owners.

$1,800 TO $3,000 DOWN
Under the present National Housing Act regulations, a down-payment of between $1,800 and $3,000 is required on a five-room bungalow costing from $7,000 to $10,000.

There have been recent unofficial reports that the Federal Government will reduce the required payment by as much as 50 per cent. There has been some speculation the provinces and the municipalities may take complementary steps to make it easier for the average worker to become a home owner.

One Government source said there might be a joint Dominion-Provincial lending plan, for instance, that would greatly reduce initial down payments. He believed that Mr. Winters' report also will deal with proposals for

Health Plan To Be Studied

OTTAWA, Aug. 30 (CP)—The Civil Service Association of Ottawa has outlined a scheme of medical and health insurance which may have far-reaching effects on Government workers across Canada.

In a report to be considered next month by the national joint council of the civil service, the association asked that the Government institute a prepayment plan of medical care. Enrollment would be voluntary for workers already in the Government service, but compulsory for new entrants.

UNTAPPED SOURCES

An untapped resource of some of the finest eating-fish in the world exists in the Bering Sea, the Fish and Wildlife Service said yesterday in Washington, D.C.

It said a recent survey off Alaska disclosed that there are important fishing grounds in the area that as yet have been barely touched.

Drags made from Norton Sound (south of Nome) to the southern end of Nunivak Island revealed rock sole, lemon sole, starry flounder, yellowfin sole, capelin and cod of prime marketable size.

"The fishermen agreed that they have never seen any better cod than in this area. The cod were meaty and weighed up to 20 pounds each."

Churchill's Return As Leader Urged

LONDON, Aug. 30 (Reuters)—Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express today calls for the return of Winston Churchill as the leader of Britain in her present predicament.

"There is no salvation in Washington," The Express says.

"The place to search is right here at home. Bring Churchill back. Not because he is the leader of the Tories or any other political party. Because he is the man—so far beyond all others—who can unite and inspire all men of good will to pull the country through its troubles, as he did in 1940."

Order by Chinese Reds Blacks Out Foreign News

SHANGHAI, Aug. 30 (INS)—Chinese Communist officials demanded the blackout of all foreign news today in an order suspending operations of foreign news agencies.

The order, issued by the Military Control Commission, is effective Thursday.

The order, threatening appropriate punishment for violators, permits radio listeners, however, to tune in to foreign newscasts.

SUSPENDS MONITORING
Shortly after publication of the order, the British-owned North China News, sole English-language newspaper in Shanghai, announced it will suspend monitoring news reports from abroad.

The Soviet news agency Tass shut its doors simultaneously with the shut-down of the Soviet consulate in Shanghai after Asia's largest metropolis was captured by the Communists.

Despite the Tass shutdown, however, three Soviet-owned Russian-language newspapers have been carrying its dispatches until now.

Tass dispatches also have been

British Dollar Crisis Not Pleasant Picture

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By SIGRID ARNE
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

This British-American tangle over what the British ought to do with the pound (their money) has only one official motive, whether British or American: to give the ration-ridden British a better living.

American bond Treasury and private financial experts—would like to see the British "devalue" the pound. That would mean the United States could buy more British pounds for a certain number of dollars and hence more British goods for fewer dollars. It also means the British would have to put out more pounds to buy American dollars and hence more British work to buy American goods.

BRITISH OBJECT

The British Labor Government has objected. If British money becomes cheaper—less able to buy abroad—the British people are open to even more rationing and to fewer comforts in their homes.

At the same time, since American dollars would buy more British goods at lower prices, American living would become even more easy.

That is not a pretty peacetime picture as between the two major wartime allies, now allies in the "cold war."

Here is what United States Treasury experts have to say about the debate:

First, they think devaluation of the pound would be like cutting out a small tumor immediately to avoid bigger trouble later.

PRICES WOULD DROP

American Government economists think that if the British made their money cheaper their prices would goods here and pick up more American dollars to spend here.

Americans admit there would be a period in which the British would suffer. But in the long run they say the British would gain in bigger sales.

They think, further, that lower British prices would mean more sales all over the world.

But the British point out that if the pound sterling buys less they will have to pay more for all the things they buy to keep their factories going. The price of goods is partly set by the price at which they buy the raw stuff.

W.A. Festival at Salt Spring Is Success and Realizes $900

The Kermess sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Salt Spring Island branch of the Canadian Legion, and held recently in the gardens of the Golf and Country Club under the general co-operation of Mrs. Harold Bjorklund, proved in every way a success. In spite of threatening skies, more than 500 visitors and residents attended and a sum reaching well over $900 was realized for the funds of the organization. It is hoped to make the event a forerunner of an annual Legion Day on Salt Spring.

At 3:30 p.m., to the strains of the bagpipes played by Pipe Major A. Pollock and Sgt. J. Shepherd of the Canadian Scottish, Mrs. David Swan, president of the Provincial Command, Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Legion, and Mrs. J. B. Acland, followed by the Queen and princesses, entered the grounds, where Mrs. Swan, introduced by Mrs. Acland, president of the local W.A., opened the affair.

Following the ceremony, Joyce Thorburn of Vesuvius Bay was crowned Queen of the Kermess by G. Capt. A. R. Laidlaw, president of the local branch of the Legion, receiving from Mrs. Swan a gift and corsage, a similar presentation being made to the two attendant princesses, Sylvia Jackson, Fulford, and Patricia Kirk, Galiano. The lovely corsages which were presented to Mrs. Swan, Mrs. Acland, the Queen and her attendants, Mrs. Bjorklund and Mrs. Jack Brooks, were made and donated by Mrs. Cecil Springfield and Mrs. J. Mitchell.

The highlight of the afternoon was the fashion show staged under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jennings for the benefit of the Legion W.A. From floral-decorated tea tables on the lawn, spectators witnessed the new Autumn fashions modeled by local women, and listened to the well-known commentator of CJVI, Ida Bianco. The new shades, including copperhead, vintage wine and tawny port dress, a great deal of admiring comment. Especially outstanding in the show were the 100 per cent cashmere suits, authentic can tartans, a metallic taffeta cocktail gown with new plunging neckline, and an ankle-length black velvet cocktail gown. The breathtaking finale was a variegated nylon formal, ranging in color from palest pink to deep American beauty.

Those acting as models were Mrs. L. F. Nicholson, Mrs. A. B. Elliot, Mrs. J. H. Deyell, Mrs. V. Graham, Mrs. P. Poyntz, Mrs. Frank Johnson, and Miss Jean Pyrie and J. McLenahan.

Among the members of the Legion who ably assisted the W.A. with contests were George Heinke, Harry Nichols, Graham Shove, Percy Lowther, Jack Richardson, Fraser Lake and Donald Anderson. Tea, cup reading and fortune telling were undertaken by Mrs. L. C. Parham, Mrs. Gorgone and Mrs. Hawkins, and numerology by Mrs. Scott Clarke.

For the children there were races organized by Miss Pam Garland, assisted by Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, and a puppet show, and horseback riding was organized by Marjorie Childerstone who brought her own horses for the occasion.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Cecil Springfield, past-president of the Legion W.A., and convoked by Mrs. P. Sharpe, assisted by Mrs. E. J. Ashlee, Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mrs. W. A. Brown, Mrs. A. E. Duke, Mrs. A. R. Layard, Mrs. Colin P. Mount and Mrs. George Scott.

Mr. J. H. Deyell officiated at the gate. The afternoon concluded with a small auction conducted by Gavin C. Mount.

Vital B.C. Logging Industry Faces Costly Strike

The multi-million-dollar lumber industry, which provides one-third of every British Columbia dollar, and which attracts about one-sixth of Marshall Plan dollars spent in Canada, today faces a strike by 32,000 coastal loggers.

Trade experts describe the time of the threatened walkout as "crucial," says a Canadian Press dispatch from Vancouver.

Machinery to supervise the strike vote among the loggers, members of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), was being put into gear yesterday by the proposal: A basic salary slash of 13 cents an hour.

Forest Industrial Relations, voice of the operators, claimed the union's demands, which included an employer-paid welfare plan, union shop and a reduction to $1.50 of present $2 daily board rates, would cost the industry $22,000,000 a year. The union claimed the operators were "crying wolf."

BOARD DECISION

Last Friday the conciliation board handed down its decision which, in the main, recommended no changes in the present contract. The ruling, which was not binding, threw out simultaneously the union's demands for 15 cents more and the operators' proposal for 13 cents less.

Policy committee of the I.W.A. immediately called for strike action. The operators said their rejection to the report would not be announced for ten days. The supervised strike vote is expected to be taken some time next week. Observers believe a strike would follow quickly, if it is approved.

Another 7,000-odd Coastal loggers last year broke from the I.W.A. to form the rebel Woodworkers' Industrial Union of Canada. Although claiming to be the bargaining agent for some operations, the I.W.U. has not been recognized by the Labor Relations Board.

In addition to the Coastal loggers, I.W.A. men in interior operations are negotiating a new contract. Their demand for a wage hike has also been met with a wage-slash counter proposal from the industry. The dispute is still in conciliation. The woodworkers last struck in 1946, paralyzing the industry for 30 days. Settlement proposals included a 15-cent hourly increase across the board and implementation of a 40-hour week in the camps.

Students End Summer Work

With Summer employment just about wound up for this year, several hundred Victoria students are preparing to leave working chores to attend university or Victoria College here, according to a report from the National Employment Service office.

The students are last year's high school graduates and they have been working in mills, factories and offices to help pay for the coming college term. Girl students found employment in resorts, hotels and restaurants, the N.E.S. report says.

According to the report, 35 per cent of students who graduated from high school last June indicated that they would attend college this Autumn.

An additional 36 per cent had asked for permanent employment, it was reported, with another 5 per cent leaving this area and joining the armed forces.

VACATION GUIDE

Variety of Attractions Draw Tourists to Island

A delightful variation of attractions that add up to the country's best in tourist fare is the answer for the steady popularity of Vancouver Island as a tourist centre.

Fishing the mighty Tye salmon is in full swing in Vancouver Island resorts from Victoria to the Sayward Valley.

From all corners of the continent, and sometimes from abroad, come fishermen who have heard of the island's heavy catches of one of the world's finest sporting fish.

For fishermen and other holiday-makers, smooth roads link countless fine holiday resorts that are set amid scenes of natural beauty.

Here are roomy quarters, good food, and ample facilities for everything the vacationer could call for: golfing, boating, riding, swimming, relaxation, conviviality.

Touring Vancouver Island provides a vacation rich in the variety that is the spice of holidays everywhere.

At the Theatres

ROYAL James Stewart and THEATRE June Allyson are co-starring for the first time in "The Stratton Story," stirring drama based on the spectacular career of Monty Stratton, former big league baseball figure. Frank Morgan, Agnes Moorhead and Bill Williams are others in the new M-G-M offering, now showing at the Royal Theatre.

CAPITOL Two of Hollywood's best THEATRE young players, Barbara Kennedy, portrays the parents of a small boy who falls into deadly peril in RKO-Radio's suspenseful drama, "The Window." Bobby Driscoll has the role of the boy and Paul Stewart and Ruth Roman are the other stars in the production in charge of Dore Schary.

ATLAS With the filming of her THEATRE latest M-G-M starring picture, "The Sun Comes Up," Jeanette MacDonald won the undisputed title of "Technicolor Queen." The new picture, based on a novel by Marjory Kinnebrew Rawlings, marks Miss MacDonald's 17th Technicolor film. It was filmed on location in the Santa Cruz Mountains.

OAK BAY M-G-M's eagerly THEATRE awaited filmation of Frederic Wakeman's explosive and chuckling best-seller novel, "The Hucksters," opens Monday at the Oak Bay Theatre, with an all-star cast headed by Clark Gable and the English star, Deborah Kerr, and has proved to be every inch as spellbinding and amusing as the widely-read book.

RIO Jerry Wald, whose THEATRE "Mildred Pierce" for Warner Bros. won Joan Crawford the 1945 Academy Award, produced the sensational drama, "Johnny Belinda," co-starring Jane Wyman and Lew Ayres, now playing at the Rio Theatre.

Dominion - "Dumbo."
Fox - "River Lady."
Oak Bay - "The Hucksters."
Odeon - "The Crooked Way."
Plaza - "Desperados."
Rio - "Johnny Belinda."
Royal - "The Stratton Story."

Odeon John Payne can be seen THEATRE this week at the Odeon Theatre as a war hero and amnesia victim in the tale melodrama, "The Crooked Way," in which he shares stellar honors with Sonny Tufts. Benedict Bogeaus produced the film for United Artists release. Ellen Drew plays top feminine lead in the film, which is set in Los Angeles, and the supporting cast includes such well-known featured players as Rhys Williams, Charles Evans, Garry Owen and Greta Granstedt.

Dominion Much of Walt Disney's THEATRE success in personifying animal characters in his productions is due, in large part, to the ability of his animators to endow creatures with human attributes, as delightfully demonstrated in his comedy musical features, "Dumbo" and "Saludos Amigos," both in color by Technicolor.

Visit Langford

DUNCAN, Aug. 30.—The Duncan Elderly Citizens' Club was entertained at the farm of Rupert Stephens, Langford, on Monday afternoon. A caravan of cars left the Agricultural Hall, Duncan, at 2 p.m. Each car had been provided in response to an appeal. Tea was served by Mrs. Stephens and Miss D. Wilson. Guests were shown around the extensive estate, and thoroughly enjoyed the outing.

The Roman alphabet originally consisted of only 20 letters.

Start Bridge Work In Diamond District

LADYSMITH, Aug. 30.—Brush has been cleared at the northern approach to the proposed new steel bridge to be built in Diamond district. An automobile accident which occurred last week delayed the work for concrete piers and retaining walls. J. McCaffery, Vancouver, is in charge of the work.

The bridge, for which the sum of $215,000 was allocated in the 1949 public works program outlined in the Legislature by Hon. E. C. Carson, will replace the wooden structure which has been the cause of many accidents in the past, due to the acute angle of the approaches.

Bad Luck Hits Port Motorist

PORT ALBERNI, Aug. 30.—Lucien Soriel's new automobile went up in flames, but that was only the beginning of his trouble.

The car, which was stopped by Provincial Police as it sped flaming through a downtown street, was impounded after officers put out the flames.

Soriel was charged with driving without a licence. Police said the status of his ownership and insurance may be open to question.

To top it all off, the city council is reported considering billing him for a call to volunteer firemen which his flaming drive touched off.

Attend Course

LADYSMITH, Aug. 30.—Fire Chief Frank Jameson, accompanied by firemen Herbert Gilson and Fred Wilson, attended the annual Fire Chiefs' College sessions at Vancouver, and returned by plane.

Help Hospital At Ladysmith

LADYSMITH, Aug. 30.—An attempt will be made to restore Ladysmith Hospital grounds to at least a semblance of their former beauty, it was decided by directors at a recent meeting.

C. H. Ridgway lamented the fact that words had been allowed to flourish which was not a very nice sight for patients. G. H. Dickson recalled that at one time the grounds had presented a pleasing appearance, and had been kept in order.

Among suggestions put forward were that the garden be utilized for growing vegetables, with the junior to devote more time to the work; that the whole five acres be worked over by tractor in the Spring, and that a small lawn be laid out. The grounds committee was empowered to look into the question of costs.

REVISE PAY SCALES

The house committee brought in a recommendation on staff salaries, which was accepted by the board. The cook's salary was fixed at $130 per month, and the janitor's salary, $150 per month. Ward maids' salaries were set at $86 with $25 deducted for board. It was also decided that nurses' aides salaries be left at $4.70 per day, with no charge for meals.

Port Resident Guesses Tune

PORT ALBERNI, Aug. 29.—Once again this week good fortune has smiled on a resident of this community.

Last Saturday, at the Fall Fair, a local woman won a new automobile. On Monday Mrs. S. H. Smith won the Jumbo Jackpot, a featured giveaway program of a Vancouver radio station.

She identified the mystery tune "Mandy" to win $1,600 in merchandise.

Included in the goods are a combination washing and dishwashing machine, radio-phonograph set, chestfield and bedroom suites, Venetian blinds and other articles.

Provide Books At Ladysmith

LADYSMITH, Aug. 30.—An executive meeting of the Ladysmith District Parent-Teacher Association was held recently to plan an agenda for a meeting in September, following recess during the Summer. Mrs. P. Whicker was chairman.

It was decided to turn over the balance of the books in the now discontinued textbook bureau of the P.T.A. to the schools' textbook bureau. The books, which were bought from pupils under the exchange plan, have a total value of $100.

With the new Government plan being put into operation, offering rentals at a nominal fee, the P.T.A. found itself with books on hand.

Weather Forecasts

Vesuvius Bay Event To Mark Labor Day

GANGES, Aug. 30.—The Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce has made plans for a regatta and dance on the Labor Day weekend.

A dance will be held at Ganges on Saturday night, and an invitation has been extended to all yachtsmen from Mainland and Island points to stop off on their way to the regatta being held by the Maple Bay and Cowichan Bay Yacht Clubs.

At a recent executive meeting the program was completed for a regatta at Vesuvius Bay at 1:30 p.m. Sunday. Salt Spring residents being essentially interested in boats, there will be a number of local entries, and attendance from neighboring Island points is anticipated.

Arrangements will be made for towing small boats around the island from Ganges Harbor. A cruiser race, outboard races, and events for air-cooled inboards will be the main attractions, while rowboat races, swimming races, a grassy pole and novelty events will provide further entertainment.

B.C. Airlines will have a plane on hand for "barnstorming" flights, and it is planned by Associated Air Taxi to have demonstration flights with the planes that will shortly commence regular service between Salt Spring and Vancouver.

VICTORIA'S OWN BUSINESS TRAINING H.Q.

Radio-Telegraphy, Television Added To Business Course at Sprott Shaw

For more than 20 years the name of Sprott Shaw has been synonymous with the highest standards of business training, not only in Victoria and British Columbia, but carrying a Dominion-wide reputation for efficient modern preparation for every phase of business life.

Originally established in 1886 in Ontario, the school came to Victoria in 1913 and since that time has been steadily growing, not only in attendance and facilities but in scope, offering the student training that is and has been the latest and most modern, abreast of and ahead of the times.

For a while, under war and post-war conditions, jobs were readily available for those only partially trained. That time is rapidly passing. Employers now look for the graduate who has undergone the intensive training found in such schools as Sprott Shaw, those with the firm foundation of knowledge on which to build practical experience.

HIGH EFFICIENCY
Sprott Shaw School of Victoria is a member of the Business Educators' Association of Canada. This organization has been built to sponsor better business training and membership is held rigidly to those schools which have shown their ability to instruct with the utmost efficiency in every branch of commercial preparation.

In addition to regular courses in stenography, business administration, bookkeeping, accountancy and every branch of commercial work, there are many specialized lines. Prominent among these is radio-telegraphy, and in recent years this has developed to form an important part in the school's curriculum. During the war years the forces placed great reliance on graduates from Sprott Shaw. Now, in peacetime, the demand for commercial operators is ever increasing. The training at Sprott Shaw is geared to the attainment of a Department of Transport certificate, a necessity before acquiring a post as radio-telegraphist on land or sea.

NEW BRANCH
This year a new branch of study has been opened—the theory and development of television, which is

Course Offers Song, Speech

Miss Doris Bagshaw has entered on her fifth year of teaching in the city of Victoria. She studied both here and in Hollywood and teaches both singing and speech, two branches of art that she believes should certainly be taught together. One, she says, helps the other.

Miss Bagshaw is particularly successful in helping those with speech defects.

Last Winter Miss Bagshaw held classes in public speaking in her studio at 534 Broughton Street and also helped to coach members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and a large class of club women in voice production and public speaking. On Saturday mornings there is a class for children in singing and reciting.

"Both children and adults are enthusiastic about her classes, the children because they enjoy singing and reciting—especially where there is action—and the adults because they feel it gives them added confidence and assurance, particularly as members of a group or organization."

Dancing Aid To Children Through Life

"All children need dancing just as much as they need the three R's," states Eileen, local dance teacher. "But shy children and those physically handicapped should be taught to dance. Children with infantile paralysis can dance unless the disease is far advanced. Dancing helps to develop them physically, gives them self-confidence, helps them overcome the feeling that they cannot participate in games and sports with other children."

"Most children have beautiful bodies," Eileen points out, "and if they are watched and trained carefully they can easily retain their beauty and grace through all stages of development. But a good dance teacher must be one who knows something about anatomy. She should have some knowledge of physiology, hygiene and bone sculpture, in order to instruct intelligently."

PROPER CARRIAGE
Eileen believes that above all things a child should be kept young, natural and joyous. "I do not mean that children should be taught ballroom dancing alone, but they should be taught the essentials of the dance, ballet routine adapted to their points of view and age, then they will naturally go on the ballroom floor or anywhere else with proper carriage and ease of movement."

The future of any country depends upon the health of its children, and in these unsettled days when parents and teachers realize that the health of children depends on proper diet and healthy exercise, dancing should have its place in their recreation programs.

Eileen, a member of the Dancing Masters of America, Inc., the largest national organization of teachers of dancing on this continent, emphasizes that children should never be used as a medium for exhibitionism.

"What Happens in a Dale Carnegie Class"
Is a question frequently heard among those interested in effective speaking and the art of getting along with others.

Frank Paulding, well-known local instructor in speech, out of his 28 years' teaching experience, believes that fear is the greatest obstacle to adequate self-expression. The greatest need, he says, is a sense of communication and its values. The greatest technique to be learned is an appreciation and utilization of structure, the organization and logic necessary to make a message pointed, lucid, and remembered.

These factors, together with human relations, the art of persuasion, and a new streamlined memory course, are the major points of the famous Dale Carnegie Institute course which will open in Victoria on Monday, September 26, at Terry's.

To answer the query as to "what happens," the first session is arranged as an open night and demonstration. Reservations and particulars as to what happens at every session may be obtained from Mr. Paulding at E 5890.

Oldest Autumn Fair in West Opens Monday at Saanichton

The North and South Saanich Agricultural Society's 31st annual Autumn exhibition will be officially opened at the Saanichton Agricultural Hall at 2 p.m. on Monday by Arthur Ash, Saanich M.L.A. It was announced yesterday.

The event, which is the oldest continuous Autumn fair west of the Great Lakes, is expected to draw a record crowd.

Expected to be a popular feature at this year's fair is the horse show.

No Uranium Found in 1949

Prospectors have been pouring over British Columbia's mountains with Geiger counters this Summer but no important discoveries of uranium ore have been uncovered. Mines Department officials have reported.

Little interest is being shown this year in gold, these officials said, because of the low price of gold in relation to production costs.

No development work has been done on the two uranium discoveries of last year, one at Hazelton and the other in the Bridge River area, although there has been some exploration work.

which will have 25 per cent more entries than ever before. It will include jumping, riding, novelty and a children's pet class.

Dr. S. F. Miles, convener of the horse show, reported a good entry from Saanich and Up-Island points indicated.

NEW TROPHIES

"The Western class and the jumping competition are both expected to draw a large number of entries," he said.

The horse show is built around two main trophies—the Orange Lodge Cup, donated by the Saanichton branch, for open class of saddle horses over 15.2 hands, and the Watney Plate for the jumping course.

However, two more trophies are offered this year, to be competed for in the light saddle horse class. The T. Eaton Company Challenge Trophy and the Buckfield Trophy will be awarded to the horse winning the most points in jumping at all Vancouver Island fairs. The horses must be shown at least three times at Vancouver Island fairs to be eligible.

JUDGES NAMED

Highland dancing, with entries expected from the Mainland as well as Island points, piping events, and a large midway will be other feature attractions.

Judges for the fair are: James Wood, heavy horses; Col. R. Richmond, saddle horses; George W. Challenger, Jersey cattle; E. A. Hay, Holsteins and Ayrshires; J. L. Lang, poultry; P. F. Boucher and Miss P. M. Baker, rabbits; M. W. Randall, eggs; J. Bocher, flowers; Miss Geraldine Mann and Miss Nora Graham, jams and bottled fruits; C. E. Jeffery, honey; Miss L. M. ## To Hear Briefs On Gas Price Applications

The Public Utilities Commission will receive briefs from organizations on the application of oil companies in British Columbia for an increase in gasoline prices, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman, said yesterday.

He said the commission expected to receive briefs from the B.C. Automobile Association regarding the proposed increase.

Dr. Carrothers said no decision has yet been made on whether accountants will be employed to examine the claims of the oil companies for increases or whether public hearings will be held.

No Ill Effects From Half-Hour Buried in Sand

Robert Allan 14, was buried for half an hour in 20 tons of sand at a Hamilton, Ont., cement company. Workers toiled feverishly by hand and with shovels to free him. Here, the rescued lad is being treated at the center by some of the crew. Left, Fireman Norman Soules; center, Bert Corrigan; right, Frank Hulse. Fact that the sand was wet is credited with helping to save the life of the boy who received under oxygen and went home after treatment at hospital, none the worse for his terrifying adventure.

Prepare Big Floating Dock

Feature of new Island Tug & Barge Ltd. property will be 400-foot floating dock. At least 14 large steel pontoons, formerly used as boom defence buoys, will be used to float unit. One of 14-foot tanks is seen above. They are sight feet in diameter, and each will support upwards of 20 tons. Pontoons will be spaced about 30 feet apart when dock is assembled. Units are now being prepared for painting. Office quarters and large warehouse will also be established in new property.

Tenders to Be Opened Today On Major Steel-Pipe Contract

Two Victoria firms are keeping their fingers crossed for the biggest steel-pipe contract in the city's history.

Ralph Davis, commissioner of Greater Victoria Water District, will open tenders at 2 p.m. today for the making of seven miles of pipe. Awarding of the contract, to be announced after tenders have been studied, will mark another step in the expansion of Greater Victoria's water system.

Officials of Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrow's Ltd. said last night that both firms were tendering on the project.

HOPE FOR LOCAL AWARD
Victoria firms, and possibly United States firms as well, are expected to submit bids.

Tenders will be opened in public at the Water Board offices in the St. John's Building.

City businessmen expressed hope that the contract would be awarded locally. The project, which may cost some $200,000, would provide employment for scores of men over a period of several months.

The contract calls for more than 6,000 feet of 36-inch pipe, 16,000 feet of 24-inch pipe and 13,000 feet of 18-inch pipe, running from near Japan Gulch to the corner of Thelma Lake Road and the Island Highway.

Two mains already exist from Japan Gulch to the city. Contract for work on the intake for a third main, and 1,200 feet of pipe, has already been awarded to G. W. Ledingham of Vancouver. Work is under way.

MAINS TO MERGE
The new project will carry on where the last one leaves off. It will take the third main 22,000 feet toward the city, in 36 and 24-inch pipe.

At the end of that distance, the three mains will merge into two, and 13,000 feet of 18-inch pipe will be laid to replace the present smaller main along the Island Highway.

The last stage, carrying the third main to Smith's Hill Reservoir, will probably be started in about a year's time.

A considerably smaller contract, for the construction of 32-inch pipe, was carried out by V.M.D. 15 years ago.

After Long Patrol Tuna Still Mystery

Marine News

For several years fisheries officers have been conducting intensive research into tuna—the mystery fish. Much has been learned of the species, but there are still many question marks.

At this time, for example, there is still a mystery as to whether the tuna are "literally thousands" of miles from shore.

Charlotte Islands. Many Canadian fishermen are there, trying every lure known. But very few fish are being caught. The fishermen are extremely discouraged.

They will remain at the scene in the hope that habits of the fish will suddenly change, and that small fortunes may be made.

ENDS PATROL

This information was brought to Victoria yesterday by men serving aboard the Federal Fisheries patrol vessel Kilmala, now in Victoria after a 2,800-mile patrol trip which took her into northern waters.

There are great numbers of tuna off the west coast of the Charlottes, reports Capt. C. W. Earnshaw, skipper of the patrol craft, but they are not taking any lure.

The Kilmala, which left this port August 4, conducted the longest tuna patrol of the season. The vessel went as far offshore as a location known as Hodgkins Sea-mount—about 130 miles off the north end of the Charlottes. Official charts of the "Seamount" show the shallowest water to be 141 fathoms. But the Kilmala's echo sounding equipment located water only 57 fathoms deep. The hydrographic survey service will be interested in this fact.

TRIED ALL LURES

Capt. Earnshaw said there were "any number" of tuna about 30 miles off the West Coast of Vancouver Island between Taholah and Esquimalt Point.

Aboard the patrol ship was Lt. A. J. Touchings, Federal Fisheries Inspector for the Port Alberni area, who went along in charge of actual fishing operations. In an interview yesterday aboard the patrol, Capt. Earnshaw said that the tuna were not taking any lure. He said every known tuna lure had been used on the trip, but had been very successful. They even tried a gill net with "fair" results.

In this regard, Dr. Touchings figures the gill net could be used "to a great advantage" in the catching of the "chicken of the sea." He believes such nets should be used dark green. The one he used was white, and was most successful at night.

MOST SUCCESSFUL

Tuna, according to most recent research, feed on squid and a small fish known as saury. "One of these days, some fisherman will devise a lure resembling one of these small saury," Capt. Earnshaw said.

The patrol ship found that the new plastic lure, resembling a squid, were most successful. In the course of his fishing operations, Dr. Touchings caught many large sharks. In one setting of a set line as many as 32 blue sharks were hauled in. One of the crew members had to be taken to hospital.

Valiant City Contralto Routs Purse-Thieves
A pair of well-trained lungs and a fighting spirit felled two young hoodlums yesterday afternoon in a purse-snatching attempt in Beacon Hill Park.

Both qualities belong to Miss Marion P. Mitchell, 139 St. Andrews Street, P.B.X. supervisor for the B.C. Telephone Co., and at present leading contralto at the Metropolitan United Church.

City police first learned of the incident at 5:20 p.m. when the dispatcher for the Blue Bird Cafe reported a radio call from one of his cars requesting police at Avalon Road and Douglas Streets.

Officers learned that a Miss B. Dickinson, Dominion Hotel, was sitting on a bench near Goodacre Lake when two youths snatched her purse which was lying near her on the park bench.

GAVE CHASE

Then they fled across Douglas toward Avalon where they encountered Miss Mitchell. They knocked her down when she attempted to stop them.

Undaunted, Miss Mitchell scrambled to her feet and chased them down Avalon Road shouting "Stop!"—unwilling one of the two enough to drop the purse.

The purse-snatchers then ran down Avalon, turning onto Huntington Place where they disappeared. Miss Mitchell triumphantly recovered the purse, contents intact.

Police Constables Alex Nicholas, Walter Galwell, Arthur Deeks and Douglas Grant, who took particulars of the incident, searched the district without results.

Description of the two men was meagre, stating only that the men were 19 or 20 years old, both fairly tall, and that one was wearing brown pants, a few shirt and a jacket.

Kiwians Told of Desolate Isle

Museum Head Describes Trip To North Isle

A bird in the museum is worth two on Triangle Island. This is the conviction of Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, who spoke on bird life of the desolate island before the Kiwanis Club yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

He showed an interesting colored film, taken on the distant island during a recent research trip to the island. Primary purpose of the trip, he explained, was to gather data and specimens relative to bird life of the island, which is located about 40 miles off the north tip of Vancouver Island.

Dr. Carl and other personnel of the local museum went to Triangle Island aboard the fisheries patrol vessel Howay. They were on the island for about a week, during which time they were caught in the teeth of a vicious windstorm which twice blew down their tent. A number of rare specimens were brought back to this city.

NEW LIGHT BUOY

Island M.P.'s Head East With V.I. Needs in Mind

Canada's lawmakers are beginning to foregather in Ottawa preparatory to the opening of the nation's 21st Parliament on September 15.

First to depart from this area was Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew, who left yesterday for the East in anticipation of a brisk coming session.

Meanwhile, Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Progressive Conservative member for the Nanaimo riding, said yesterday that he would fly East on September 14—1949 in time for the opening.

Mr. Mayhew's schedule called for a stopover in Vancouver to address the Laurier Club there. Before leaving he said that he expected the session to last until sometime in December, but that he hoped to return to the Coast for a short visit during October.

EXPECT TO BE BUSY

General Pearkes was making plans to tough it out in Ottawa until the end of the session.

"I have hopes that I will be home in time for Christmas," he said. Both men are expecting the new Parliament to be busy with work held over by the former Parliament, dissolved in mid-session for the June 27 elections.

Prior to his departure, Mr. Mayhew is reported to have discussed with city officials the question of providing service at the fisherman's wharf here. He indicated that the Government and the city would still have to work out the problems.

He pointed out that a shelter would have to be provided for the person in charge of wharf operation and sanitary facilities there.

torla shipyards also. "We can't let the yards go out of existence," he stated.

General Pearkes was spending the time left before the opening of Parliament in a tour of his Nanaimo riding.

"I want to see at first hand the requirements of the various communities so that I can make appropriate representations to the departments at Ottawa," he said.

FINED FOR ASSAULT

Roland DuBois, 867 Viewfield

was fined $200 in an alternative of three months in jail when he appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in Esquimalt police court Monday.

Last week Magistrate Hall found DuBois guilty of assaulting Michael Elsworth, resident of another cabin at the same address.

According to evidence then DuBois broke Elsworth's jaw on one side and cracked it on the other, while he himself suffered bruises and cuts from a stick wielded by Elsworth's wife.

Sale of four city-owned lots for a total of $1,289 was approved yesterday by City Council.
